A Speech on the Tariff

On the 22d March, when the bill to repeal the duty on tea and coffee was under discussion in the Senate Mr Cole made a speech in the course of which he said:

I shall not detain the Senate long. I will preface the few remarks I have to make by saying that I am in favor of the bill before the Senate, and I wish to state briefly what the principal ground is upon which I base my action. I believe that to a certain degree the premium on gold has been the cause of protection to American manufactures to a great extent up to the present time, and the gradual reduction of the premium on gold has lessened that protection and consequently increased the imports into this country to the same proportional extent as we have reduced the protection by the reduction of the premium on gold.

If we examine the statistics. In 1854 the premium on gold was one hundred and four per cent, and the manufacturer had that protection added to the actual protection of the gold duty. In other words, if the manufactured article of pig iron were protected by a duty of nine dollars per ton, they were also protected by the premium on gold in addition making the protection over eighteen dollars per ton. This rule also applies to every other article of manufacture, edged tools cotton, woolens, etc., on which is now proposed to reduce the tariff eleven per cent. In 1865 the premium on gold was fifty seven per cent a reduction of forty seven per cent in one year. In 1866 the premium on gold was forty per cent or a reduction of protection in that year of sixteen per cent. In 1867 the premium on gold was thirty eight and a quarter per cent or a two per cent reduction of duty in that year. From 1867 to 1868 the reduction was six and a half per cent, the premium on gold lessening the protection to that extent. In 1870 the premium on gold was fourteen and three quarters per cent, and consequently the reduction from 1868, when the premium was thirty three per cent, was eighteen and a quarter per cent. In 1871 the premium on gold being eleven and three quarters per cent there was a reduction of three per cent. in that year upon the duties paid on these articles in currency.

Consequently, it will be observed that the reduction in the duties on imports since 1868 has been twenty-seven and one fourth per cent. in four years. Thus, it seems to me, is about as much as our manufacturers can bear. There has been a gradual reduction on imported goods corresponding to the reduction of the premium on gold, while labor has advanced, during those years and constantly increased, thereby increasing the price of the American product. Take the present price of gold at ten per cent premium, and we have a reduction of duties from 1868 of forty seven per cent. This is an enormous reduction of duties on manufactured articles and it is a question in my mind whether the manufacturing interests of this country can stand a still further reduction of eleven per cent. It is probable that before long we shall return to specie payments and do away with the premium on gold entirely. If that should occur in the next year, and we should pass that bill there would be a reduction again of twenty-one per cent in one year.

Speaking of the production of pig iron and our manufactures in general Mr Corbett said:

The production of pig iron, compared to what it was formerly when the duty was nine dollars and the premium on gold higher than it now is, is very meager. It is now only seven dollars a ton with a premium on gold ten per cent making the protection only $7 70. I might give my version of the reasons which lead to this large increase in price. In the famine in Europe particularly in England, there is a demand for nearly the entire product of this iron in their own country and colonies except what they have regularly exported to this country. The reduction of duties here has stimulated the exportation of the iron to this country while at the same time they have a large demand elsewhere and a consequence of the low rate of gold it has created this extensive importation and it has correspondingly stagnated the production of this article in our own country.

If that be so, the labor in Europe is stimulated, and to that extent, of course, it must advance the price of the article in Europe corresponding with the depression and loss of production caused in this country. If we depress the labor of this country and turn the attention of the laborers engaged in mining and producing this article to other pursuits of course we cut off to that extent a demand abroad and when that demand is increased to that extent it naturally advances the price and the price of pig has greatly advanced since 1868. The statistics for January and February, 1871 show that the average price of pig iron was then about thirty dollars a ton. After the reduction of the duty on pig iron and the reduction of the premium on gold, the increased demand for pig iron from abroad has advanced the article from thirty nine to forty dollars a ton, or eleven dollars more than it was when our protection was nine dollars a ton.

If this be so on pig iron which I take as an illustration merely it will be so on all other manufactures. For instance the labor in the manufacture of cotton goods will be. Every manufacturer that we close up in this country must increase just to that extent the demand from abroad. Our demand for these articles is constantly increasing as the population increases in this country. If we stimulate our own manufactures here develop our hidden resources, develop the mines and manufactures here give capitalist and laborers an opportunity to produce these articles in our own country then to that extent we create a competition within our own country and bring down the prices of the foreign article. I say that these things all go hand in hand. I believe that a protective tariff will continue to be necessary until a change shall have arrived in the labor of Europe until we shall have coin basis of the world, that currency that is the same in every other country. As long as the price of gold continuously declines just as long duties are being to that extent reduced and the protection is just that much lost. I am in favor of the amendment of the Senator from Pennsylvania for the repeal of the duty on tea and coffee, and to continue the duties upon articles manufactured abroad coming into competition with American labor.

Jerked Beef

A New York paper contains the following:

The Pampas of South America and the prairies of Texas are the home of vast herds of cattle which roam throughout their vast extent with little or no restraint. Large numbers are removed from the great centers of population and consequent consumption, these animals were for many years slaughtered almost exclusively for their hides and tallow the meat being regarded as of little value. A recent method of curing beef, however, has given it a market value, and the price of cattle has greatly advanced in consequence. The statistics for January and February, 1871 show that the average price of pig iron was then about thirty dollars a ton. After the reduction of the duty on pig iron and the reduction of the premium on gold, the increased demand for pig iron from abroad has advanced the article from thirty nine to forty dollars a ton, or eleven dollars more than it was when our protection was nine dollars a ton.

I am in favor of the amendment of the Senator from Pennsylvania for the repeal of the duty on tea and coffee, and to continue the duties upon articles manufactured abroad coming into competition with American labor.

It did seem to me that the gradual reduction which was being made by our gradual return to specie payment was sufficient reduction upon the duties to benefit all classes and if we reduced them to a greater extent than that until labor was due it must result in the closing up of many manufacturing establishments. It is for the interest of this country that labor should be employed. It seems to me that the way to do that is not only important to the Eastern States but it is equally so to Western States that is producing corn and pork and the products of the farm. If we abandon protection and the manufacturing establishments of the manufacturing cities that now consume so much of the products of the West are obliged to close up and the laborers there employed are obliged to go to the West there to raise wheat and corn and pork where are we to find a market for these products? It seems to me that if the people of the great West fully and fairly and for the benefit of the country at large, in their ambition of building up manufactures with their own capital in their country thereby furnishing a home market for the articles produced and raised by them they would advocate the protective system. In the Western States the manufacturers in addition to this protection have the advantage of the transportation from the seaboard of manufacturing cities to the West, and that is of itself some protection in giving them an opportunity to establish manufactures. If they do not build up manufactories within their own midst, thereby furnishing a market for their own products, they must transport their grains over railroads and canals at great expense and cost to them selves, and they must be shipped to foreign ports.

Mr President the market in foreign countries for the products of our soil is not very great, particularly in grain. According to the last English statistics which I saw and that was some time ago, we only supplied England with about twenty six per cent of the grain she imports. She imports grain from Russia and from Prussia, and from the countries near to her, and only imports grain from this country to make up their deficiencies. We are the great consumers of our own products of the soil. We export them to the seaboard on to the large manufacturing cities, and in doing this in protecting these interests, we build up those great manufactories here, saving the transportation of grain across the sea, and saving the transportation of the articles imported back to this country.

I believe all who have examined this question in a practical point of view, not hemmed in by mere theories, have satisfied themselves of the importance of diversifying the labor of this country. Whenever we abandon this principle we are at sea. Once abandon this principle and we must close up all the workshops we must send those engaged in manufacturing in the East to the West to find homes. They cannot live upon nothing; they cannot live in their homes in manufacturing towns unless they have industries to stimulate them and to employ them. If they must leave their eastern homes they must go to the West, and raise the products of the soil there, and produce wool and manufacture it in the old manner by the spinning wheel and by the hand loom. If we are prepared to return this it seems to me we are taking a retrograde movement in civilization.

I believe Mr President, the statement which has been made that our imports are greatly in excess of our exports is true and I believe they will continue more or less unless we put a stop to heavy importations in great measures. My own opinion is that now upon all the luxuries of life there should be an increase rather than a diminution of duties. We are sending abroad too much specie, too many bonds of the United States and too many bonds of our railroad companies at a great discount, which must ultimately be paid in coin, and we are compelled annually to pay the interest upon these bonds thereby contributing to the support of foreign countries.

Mr President I have now briefly expressed my views upon this subject. I shall vote for the amendment of the Senator from Pennsylvania for the repeal of the duty on tea and coffee, and to continue the duties upon articles manufactured abroad coming into competition with American labor.

A Sharp Bank Swindle

The Kansas City Times gives the following account of the latest swindle record:

A well dressed man with fashionable cane and well oiled boots called at the bank of Leavenworth this city on the 20th inst and presented the bank officers with the sum of eighteen hundred dollars in currency and a draft on a bank in Leavenworth, State Treasurer Higginbotham, on the bank in favor of himself, and requested the bank to forward the money. Well and good. It will take no difference. You can take the draft and I will wait until you get returns. This was agreed to by the bank and the draft was sent forward. Soon thereafter in due course of mail the bank received a handsomely gotten up package which purported to contain the money. Without counting the contents the package was placed in the vault. Shortly afterwards the well dressed man with fashionable cane and well oiled boots called at the bank and requested the package. It was handed to him and he left. Soon after the package was opened and found to contain a bundle of blank paper cut to the size of bank bills, with a few genuine bills on the outside. The sharper had worked well while the bank officers were waiting for returns.

Monopolies

From the Dallas Republican

Some of our Democratic papers have endeavored to carry the impression that the late Republican State Convention was run in the interest of monopolies without showing any one point to prove that such was the case. That railroads and founded by the people is evident that those roads have to be in the very nature of things, assisted by the people is also evident that the roads when first built are to a great extent monopolies needs no demonstration and that they are eventually run in the interests of the people is equally apparent. It is said that Mr Holladay is gaining entire control of the carrying trade of Oregon, and that he is charging more than formerly for both freight and passage. The question, therefore, arises, can Mr Holladay if he wishes, retain the entire carrying trade of Oregon? No reasonable mind would for a moment contend that he could, unless he was disposed to carry for reasonable prices and to that no one could object. Already is the N P R R Co making arrangements to put a line of steamers on the route between the Columbia river and San Francisco and when ever there is a grinding monopoly there always will be some men or company of men to combine against it.

The Democratic party of Oregon is the last that should complain of monopolies, after throwing the entire swamp lands of the State into the hands of a few men who are disposed to spend little, if anything, to further the interests of the State or develop its resources. It is evident that those roads have to be in the very nature of things, assisted by the people is also evident that the roads when first built are to a great extent monopolies needs no demonstration and that they are eventually run in the interests of the people is equally apparent. The Democratic party of Oregon is the last that should complain of monopolies, after throwing the entire swamp lands of the State into the hands of a few men who are disposed to spend little, if anything, to further the interests of the State or develop its resources. It is evident that those roads have to be in the very nature of things, assisted by the people is also evident that the roads when first built are to a great extent monopolies needs no demonstration and that they are eventually run in the interests of the people is equally apparent. It is said that Mr Holladay is gaining entire control of the carrying trade of Oregon, and that he is charging more than formerly for both freight and passage. The question, therefore, arises, can Mr Holladay if he wishes, retain the entire carrying trade of Oregon? No reasonable mind would for a moment contend that he could, unless he was disposed to carry for reasonable prices and to that no one could object. Already is the N P R R Co making arrangements to put a line of steamers on the route between the Columbia river and San Francisco and when ever there is a grinding monopoly there always will be some men or company of men to combine against it.

A Talk with Senator Sumner

HIS POLITICAL POSITION AND WHA THE PEOPLE WANT TO DO.

[Correspondence of the Cincinnati Times and Chronicle]

Washington, March 14.—For some time doubts have existed here in the minds of many influential politicians as to what course Senator Sumner will pursue after he has seen the result of the Philadelphia Convention—the renomination of President Grant and the indorsement of his Administration by those chosen to speak for the National Republican party—and finds that the time has arrived when he must either acknowledge the nomination or abandon the party of which he has been since its formation a shining light.

It was with no small degree of satisfaction, therefore, that I met him to-day, and found him willing to talk on political subjects, and especially concerning his political position at the present time.

The impression prevails, Senator, even among many of our friends, that you have given private assurances to those who are working in the interest of the Cincinnati Convention of your sympathy with the reform movement, and that if they will nominate an out and out Republican ticket, you will support it.

"No person has any authority to speak for me upon this question. You will believe me when I say I am absolute master of my own opinions, and have not confided with any person as to my future course on this matter."

"Am I to understand, then, that you have not indicated a purpose not to act with the Republican party if Gen Grant should be renominated?"

"That is my position. The time has not arrived for me to declare whether I shall support any man for President nominated at Philadelphia, especially when that nomination may be a personal and not a party one. I am free to act as my conscience may dictate, which will always be for the good of my country and its people. Of one thing you may be sure, I shall never play into the hands of the Democratic party, or support any ticket which directly or indirectly restores them to power again. I have the good of my country and Republican principles deeply at heart, and I shall battle for them in the future as I have done in the past and enter talking such sentiments I cannot aid in any movement which fosters any attempt to place in power again the Democratic party."

"Nor [illegible] or either your views Senator are not I am sure, correctly understood by the country, as there has been a wide spread belief that both yourself and Senator Trumbull were pledged to sustain the action of the Cincinnati Convention. If it should assume a different Republican form?"

"For myself I have not uttered a sentiment or a word which would justify any such belief. Trumbull has given his support to the Cincinnati movement, and desires his friends to join in with him. But for myself, as I have just said I must await the action of the Convention at Philadelphia and then act as my conscience dictates. My record is before the country and is part of its history and my future course will be in strict harmony with the principles which have governed my entire life a devotion to justice and the welfare of my country."

Be composed.—Look most to yourself and you will always be poor. No matter what comes in, if more goes out you will always be poor. The art is not in making money but in keeping it. Little expenses, like mice in a barn, when they are many, make great waste. Hair by hair heads get bald; straw by straw, the thatch rots off the cottage and drop by drop, the rain comes in the chamber. The barrel is soon empty if the tap leaks, but a drop a minute. When you begin to save begin with your mouth; many thrown pass down the throat alone. The ale jug has a great waste. In all other things keep within compass. Never stretch your legs further than the blankets will reach, or you will soon be cold. In clothes, choose suitable and lasting stuff, and not tawdry fineries. Table warm is the main thing, never mind the looks. A fool may make money, but it needs a wise man to spend it. Remember it is easier to build a child than to help a grown man. If you can add to a kind, but don't subtract, there's nothing after the saying, but labor and wait; work hard while you are young, and you will have a chance to rest when you are old.

Hopper's Plan for Primaries.—A plan of reforming primary elections has been adopted in California under what is known as Porter's primary election law, abolishing the caucus altogether and substituting a direct vote of the people. The choice of delegates to the Republican State Convention to be held on the 25th April, to nominate delegates to the National Convention, is to be made by this plan. Each county committee appoints a day for the election in its own county but the latest day that may be set is the 15th April. The qualifications of voters at these primary elections are: Being a legally qualified voter in the district having voted for Booth for Governor, and promise to support the nominees of the Philadelphia Convention. The second rule, of course excludes new voters, but there seems to be no way of avoiding the difficulty. This method of primary elections closely resembles the Crawford county system of Pennsylvania which the politicians did not like and caused the voters to abandon. It remains to be seen whether the California plan will have a better fate.

In all the Eastern States their party is [illegible] dates death [illegible] ches apparently lifeless try ing the effect of possum strategy The side show a Cincinnati is the only sign of opposition to the Republican organization It is understood that the Democratic leaders fa party of possums feigning death are said to have leaders intend to make an effo t to arouse the passiv masses and bring them up to the support of the nominees of the Cincinnati Convent on Also that the Democratic National Convention will be called sometime during the summer, that it will endorse the Cincinnati candidates and adjourn But this is a policy which will not content the democracy of Oregon They will spew it out of their mouths

In this State Democracy does not propose to admit that anything is settled They intend to fight with a view of reviving all that has been done during the last twelve years They want no possum policy They hope the Cincinnati movement may be a great one but they have no idea of supporting t They feel in regard to it as a Democratic member of Congress said a short time ago We can not see our way through the affair The great point we want to make is to disrupt the Republican party but I think we should get some guarantees that we will not be entirely ignored in the administration of the Government in the event of success We want definite promises that we shall have certain appointments and a proportionate share of Federal patronage before we unite with the Liberal Republicans and help them to elect their candidates Until they give their pledges and promises it is idle to talk of an alliance on our part That is, they must be assured that the "bolters' will give them a distinctively Democratic administration And this is a guarantee they cannot get

Unless a distinctively Democratic ticket for President and Vice President be put in the field, Oregon will go far Grant by from two thousand to three the of majority The Dalles Convention will demand a hard-shell ticket and condemn possumism

The Centennial Celebration.

On the 24th May a meeting of the Commissioners appointed by each State and Territory to prepare for the centennial celebration of American Independence will be held at Philadelphia It is earnestly requested that all the Commissioners may be present A principal object of the meeting will be to adopt a plan for buildings, and for raising funds to defray expenses. It is the intention to make the centennial the occasion of a great international exposition or world's fair, and it is expected that all nations will be represented The magnificent Fairmount Park, having an area of twenty seven hundred acres, will afford space enough. The city of Philadelphia has set apart fifty acres in this Park as a site for the necessary buildings. Plans thereof will be submitted to the Commissioners at their meeting next month Probably an edifice of glass and iron, another crystal palace but exceeding in size any ever yet erected will be erected All who desire to take stock will be afforded an opportunity Shares will be issued and offered for sale in all parts of the country, and it is believed that the dividends will make it a paying investment. This additional feature of the world's fair will render the centennial the greatest demonstration ever witnessed Four years are yet to elapse before it is held, but the preparations to be made will be on so grand a scale that all the time will be consumed If the Commissioners on the part of Oregon can attend at Philadelphia next month they should do so.

A reporter has been interviewing Mr Hesing of the Illinois Staats Zeitung, a very prominent man among the Germans of the great central States, and gives the following in the columns of the Chicago Tribune as Mr Hesing's opinion of the Missouri Senator, Mr Schurz

Everyone knows my position in regard to Mr Schurz I cannot see any use in repeating what I have often said in respect to that matter I consider Mr Schurz a very high toned and honorable man but I do believe that he is making a very great mistake in opposing the administration in the manner in which he does We cannot afford to be delivered over to the Democracy which I believe will be the final result of the course he pursuing That has been our opinion I mean to say that I think that will be the final result of his course, and merely that that is the tendency of what he is doing

We hear that the editorship of the German paper of this city the Oregon Deutsche Zeitung, will this week pass into the hands of Mr Paul Schulze He is an energetic and forcible writer Many letters written by him since his arrival in this State have been published in newspapers in Germany, and some of them have been republished in German American journals We congratulate our German fellow citizens on their fortune in having so forcible a writer as Mr Schulze upon the only paper in Oregon that is printed in their language Under this management the Zeitung we can not doubt will prosper The paper will soon be enlarged

For a long time it was left doubtful whether the managers of the Cincinnati Convention intended to nominate candidates and mix them as far as they could the rallying point of a new party But it now seems that candidates are to be nominated and it is expected that the Democratic party will support them It will be easy enough to put up some old but now mal con ent Republican for President but will the Democracy vote for him? From many parts of the country the response comes that they will not They declare that if this is the game they will vote for Grant

It is stated that Gov Grover in a recent speech at Salem undertook to tell why the P T Co did not get the contract for constructing the Canal and Locks a Oregon City But we have no idea that he gave the true reason which was this The Company was not Democratic enough

Says the New York Herald With only a vote of three hundred and nineteen in New Hampshire the labor reformers can hardly expect to carry the country in the next Presidential election That number does not even come up to King David's Scripture four hundred [illegible]

The Arms Sale and German Opinion

[illegible] that the [illegible] in the [illegible] organ of the Chancellor of the German Empire, in regard to the French arms sales, it seems that the party opposed to the foreign policy of Prince Bismarck is determined to turn the [illegible] during the Senate [illegible] that statesman We take the following, [illegible] from Berlin by a correspondent of the Breslau Zeitung

Dispatches and Particulars are enjoyed because of the curious debate in the Senate The United States concerning the sales of muskets and cartridges by the American War Department during the late war For some reason or other Prince Bismarck had deemed it prudent not to make any remonstrances at the time when the transactions in question took place although he might have caused the Government of the United States some trouble if he had then possessed the information which Senators Sumner and Schurz have now laid before the senate at Washington Bismarck declares now that the matter was really of no consequence whatever and his organs here have published sooth ng articles on the subject For the last two days this affair has formed the chief topic of conversation in court circles and those members of the court clique who pray day and night for the downfall of Prince Bismarck have been rubbing their hands in high glee, for they assert that His Majesty will not allow this important question to take altogether the course which he Chancellor desires it to take The same persons predict also very confidently that, at the opening of the next session of the German Parliament an interpellation on the subject, coupled with a vote of censure of Bismarck's conduct in regard to the matter will be moved by the leaders of the Opposition The question, I am told, would probably have assumed more serious proportions before this, so far as the Emperor William is concerned, but for the singular dislike which the latter entertains toward Mr Carl Schurz who seems to be the prime mover in the affair although Senator Sumner, a well known enemy of Germany, is nominally the author of the motion in the American Senate

The New York Mail adds the following paragraph

In regard to Mr Schurz it is exceedingly amusing to witness the extraordinary respect and admiration which the organs of the oligarchal party have suddenly conceived for him now that they can use his testimony against Prince Bismarck The Germania even calls Carl Schurz, whom it formerly professed to detest, "the noblest representative of Germany in America."

These matters cannot but attract the attention of persons who are interested in German politics That a debate in the American Senate should furnish materials for the opponents of Bismarck to use against him and his successful policy, and so affect German politics in a rather singular result

Talking of 'Presidential side shows,' the Chicago Republican remarks that the venerable Chief Justice Chase "comes upon the scene at the eleventh hour, with his old properties of four years ago, and sets up his side show to draw off the few cantious gentlemen who are skulking about the big tent seeking free admission, with the hope of being engaged as actors when the company gets under way

The public debt for the 1st April shows that the reduction during the month of March was $15,481,968 So it goes from month to month Is any untried administration likely to improve on this?

The Office of THE DAILY AND WEEKLY OREGONIAN is removed to the S E corner of Stark and Front streets

PORTLAND TURN VEREIN —The Portland Turn Verein Society is reported to be in a very flourishing condition This society was organized ... the city several years ago and though at times has maintained a struggling existence it has never entirely disbanded After the old Turners Hall on First was removed away there was some agitation about abandoning the organization But a number of the most energetic and public spirited members leased the old church building at the corner of Jefferson and First streets which belongs to the Congregational Society of Portland Necessary alterations were made to the building, and it was fitted up as a Turner s Hall The Society now hold its regular meetings there The membership has materially augmented within the last six months and at present numbers about 80 Gymnastic exercises are held twice a week—Tuesday and Friday evenings Those who are under constant training number over 30 The gymnastic department is under the direction of Mr A F Miller a competent teacher and adapted to the art Attached to the gymnastic department has been organized a singing section This section is composed of about thirty ... attendants, and is under the efficient leadership of Professor Neufeld Of course the singing is taught in the German tongue In addition to the German membership of the society quite a ... of persons belong who are not Germans Mr C A. Alsky is President of the organization and Mr P Wagner Secretary On every Thursday evening the singing section meet for practice A meeting of the society was held at the hall on last Sunday evening at which application was made for the Portland Turn Verein organization to attach itself to the North American Turn Verein We learn that it is the intention of the ... to hold a Turner s feast about the last of May at some of the picnic grounds usually chosen ... Preparations looking toward this object are being made This organization, ... social qualities among the young men of the city, and aiming to secure a more perfect ... development, should attain that degree of popularity which its merits deserve. Clerks and young men engaged in sedentary pursuits could not more fully answer the ends of the body than by attaching themselves to this society Good health and longevity demand a certain ... of muscular recreation and out door exercise, and the principal object of this society is to secure these desirable ends

FRENCH AID MEETING —The meeting appointed to be held by the French citizens of Portland at the Armory of the Washington Guard, last night, was not largely attended, but those present ... present in their sympathy for their native country. The meeting was mainly one for ... to be the best method of giving some token of the remembrance which all Frenchmen feel for ... in her present burdened condition, and to give those who may desire to express that sympathy by substantial aid an opportunity of doing so. We learn that Frenchmen in Portland have already subscribed nearly $400 toward the ... of the French indemnity, and the meeting last night proposed to increase this amount by having a committee wait upon the people of that vicinity in our city for their subscriptions The ... also expressed their thanks to the ... Guard for the use of their hall, and to the ... of Portland for favors shown

THE POSSUM BRIGADE —Yesterday was a busy day among the Democracy Delegates from all the ... counties were assembled en route for their State Convention at the Dalles Three candidates for ... Congress were canvassed Helm of Linn, is backed by his county a part of Multnomah, and, as he believes, by a considerable following in Eastern Oregon Hayden of Polk claims considerable strength in the delegations from the Willamet valley and Southern counties, and his friends say he has the Eastern counties solid. Burnett, of Benton, is the Grover candidate and is backed by the whole force of the ... office clique of the party They all go to the Dalles to-day, where a band will meet them and ... play playing "The Possum and the Coon"

IMPROVEMENTS —By a reference to the ... of the City Surveyor we have ... that the following street improvements ... been completed during the year 1871 ... cubic yards excavation 110,363 ... cost, $22 072 72 Number of cubic ... embankment 12c 393 8 estimated cost, ... Number of lineal feet of sidewalks, ... estimated cost $13 972 60 Lineal feet ... ks, 75,840 estimated cost, $2 ... Lineal feet plank roads, 10 160 0, estimated cost, $8 096 Lineal feet plank gutters, ... estimated cost, $2,110 Lineal feet ... 4 950, estimated cost $1,282 50 ... total cost of all work done during the year $74,... 32

DEATH AT OREGON CITY —Albert Malzky, a resident of Oregon City, was seized with an apoplectic fit on Sunday afternoon, while walking along the basin, and fell into the river Those who saw him fall ran with all possible speed to ... him. They succeeded in getting him ashore in a few minutes, but it was too late to save his life. He gave a gasp or two, and the vital ... had fled. Malzky had resided for some time at Oregon City, where he was well known and ... esteemed as an inoffensive man and a ... citizen His death it is thought, was ... attributable to apoplexy, as he did not ... in the water long enough to have drowned.

PROPOSITIONS FOR MATRIMONY —This being leap year, and consequently the ladies' choice of partners, it is rather an astonishing fact that there is such a ... scarcity of matrimonial alliances Besides, April is said to be the most propitious month of the twelve in which to be married for we are told by the old bard that—

> May never was the month of love
> For May is full of flowers
> But rather April wet but kind
> For love is full of showers

BEAR.—A cinnamon bear was brought up yesterday on the Vancouver from Swan Island He had been kept for several years past there as a pet about a slaughter house, where he had become as gentle and docile as a dog and greatly attached to his master Some months ago the slaughter house was closed, and his owner finding it no ... easy task to keep his brutanship in meat, concluded to kill him and sell the flesh to the butchers here. He was in fine condition and weighed in the neighborhood of 400 pounds

HOUSE PROWLERS —The residence of Mr Wartheimer, on Washington street between Sixth and Seventh, was entered a few nights since by some ... Prowlers and robbed of two watches valued at ... DOLLARS. Intrusions at unusual hours of the night, when all good and virtuous people ought to be in the oblivious embraces of Morpheus are getting almost too common to render notice necessary ... but for acquaintance and generally fail to leave behind them a card

SABBATH SCHOOL CONCERT —A Sabbath school concert and festival will be given under the auspices of the ladies of the Congregational Society at the Congregational Church on Wednesday evening, April 10th at 7½ o clock The full programme of the concert will appear to morrow All members of the Sabbath schools are requested to meet in the lecture room on Wednesday evening at 7 o clock We predict good music and a good time generally

COURT AT VANCOUVER —Court convened at Vancouver yesterday During the term several important suits will be disposed of among which will be the suit of George W Johnson et al ... the Cascade Railroad Company to recover land over which the railroad runs at the ... and $100 000 damages the trial of the Holman vs. Hazard $10 000 case and the Lord murder case.

FAR TIME WATER —The propeller Ben Holladay owned by Buchanan Bros. some time since had one of her propellers disabled The damage has been repaired and the vessel started yesterday morning bound for Tide water She will be beached and the machinery put over and started on the proper position

NOT TOO SOON —Several of the ... brooker establishments and dead falls of infamy on Second Street between Taylor and Yamhill are being ... and removed We should be gratified to note a corresponding moral reformation among the ... denizens of those peculiar precincts

AMOUNT IN THE CITY TREASURY —There remained in the City Treasury according to the report of the City Treasurer for the quarter ending April 1st ... $...

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRICAL —The entertainment at Oro Fino Theater last evening was attended by a fair house and was well received The opening piece was a laughable farce which put the whole house in a good humor This was followed by a musical olio, consisting of songs and dances and after this by the "Flying Dutchman, in which some very fine scenic effects were produced In fact, the great beauty of this piece is in the strange and startling scenery with which it is put upon the stage

KING'S COCK CROWING NO MORE A London paper says of this ancient usage in the Court of St James It is only right at the commencement of Lent to call for Charles Dilke s attention to the gratifying fact that the office of the King s Cock crower has been abolished The duty of this official was to crow the hour each night within the precincts of the palace during Lent instead of calling it out like an ordinary watchman The last instance on record of the cock crower performing his duties was on the first Ash Wednesday after the accession of the House of Hanover when the unfortunate man got into sad trouble for George II then Prince of Wales being disturbed at supper by the cock crower entering the room and making an unpleasant noise to announce that it was past ten o clock inquired that some insult was intended and was with difficulty made to understand that such was not the case There is however reason to fear that the office existed for some time, as a sinecure after the duties had ceased to be performed for in Debrett s Imperial Calendar for 1822 the "cock and crower at Scotland yard appears in the list of persons holding appointments in the Lord Steward s department of the royal household

A Soudan Adventure.

Tremisen, a recent French traveler, who penetrated into Soudan gives the following interesting adventure on the Upper Nile

"As the boats made their way slowly against the tide, he landed and walked on, till, being tired, he sat down at the foot of a tree from which his approach had scared a troop of monkeys.

"When they saw me seated quietly they gradually approached, without evincing any alarm. My rifle lay useless by my side, for I had expended my last cap, so that had I wished I could not have fired at them. They squatted down to examine me leisurely, with all the grimaces and pantomimes usual in those that have been domesticated. One crawling up, began to feel the barrel of my rifle, and finally grasped the strap to carry it off, but found it too heavy. Thinking them too familiar, I threw a stone or two, which scattered the tribe, and some fled to the branches over my head, where they began to annoy me by shaking down dead boughs.

"They descended again, but did not come so near me. I was so amused at their antics that I sat there without noticing the time, when suddenly from the forest came the long drawn, sad howl of the jackal, answered from various quarters, and followed by a period of silence, during which the animals assemble when a general howl is given, but is not renewed unless some of the pack strays off.

"Night was on me. From every quarter rose howls and cries; the boat was not in sight. I could not remain, and to reach the boat seemed fearfully dangerous, and I was unarmed.

"I started up and cautiously threaded my way through the gathering gloom, peering into every tuft of bushes, when suddenly I heard a fearful sigh, a drawing in of the breath, that surpassed any forge-bellows I ever heard. I stood paralyzed. Again the long breath, and then came a roar that shook the forest. A lion stood in my path.

"After a few moments, cries and howls began anew, and I felt that my only hope might be in swimming, if I could do so without noise. I advanced along the beach with care till I came to a bit of wood. This I entered with deep misgivings, heightened by a hideous laugh, almost at my heels, the cry of the loathsome hyena. I pushed on, every now and then placing myself close to a tree to peer around me. At last I reached a spot on the shore whence I could see the barque. My heart bounded, but I was not out of danger. A dark form was silhouetted upon the sky just before me. I sunk back, and the animal vanished, doubtless a prey to the lion.

"Then I pushed on steadily, but how the time hung! I seemed to make no progress, but at last I distinguished the men on board, and hailed. Heaven be thanked! the answer came, and they were bounding to help me. It was well, for my strength was gone, so overwrought had been my whole nervous system."

Eccentricities of Vaccination.

The following ludicrous account of the result of an order for vaccination of school children appears in the London Dispatch:

An order has been passed by the Board of Directors requiring that all the pupils of the public schools who have not been vaccinated before shall have that interesting and pleasant surgical operation performed at once, or else they will be prohibited from attending school. The teachers have been requested to have the children notify their parents of this order, and tell them that they can have the children vaccinated at home, or they can be vaccinated at school, just as the parents prefer. We present copies of a few of the notes which have already arrived to their teachers in relation to the matter:

Miss R.—Bridget H— has had the Small poaks last year so she does not head to be vaxinated.

Mina had the spyll box.

Charles has now need of being faxenated, for he had the smallpox all redy.

Mrs. G.—Excuse Mrs. —schert she does not —ing vaxenated.

My Daughter was speaking about vaxinating I thoughat it was no use she is been vaxinating three times sirandy.

Please let him be vaxinated

Mrs. Teacher you may get Stephen B— vaccinated.

A. B. R. has had the smallpox, for further information call at No. —.

Sir.—I hereby certify that Emelie T— is twice vaxeinated.

ANOMALOUS FOOD.—In no part of the world is there so little prejudice against particular kinds of animal food as in China. There the people eat indiscriminately any and every sort of thing that has had life, including crows, storks, owls, herons, rats, mice, snakes, and innumerable reptiles, with impunity. Even cockroaches, like grasshoppers and beetles, artistically prepared, can be transformed into table delicacies. Dog meat is a luxury. Tender fat puppies are quick articles in market. Poor persons cannot indulge in such extravagance. Bear's paws are a dish of rare delight. Only on marked occasions, at feasts where distinguished guests are entertained, can that rich dish be afforded. Merchants of wealth and government officials on good salaries luxuriate occasionally on birdnest soup. No people on the globe maintains a higher standard of health or live longer than those garbage eaters, whose customs strike us as being so shockingly uncivilized.

LIVE ELEPHANT.—Some masterpiece dredged up from an enormous depth in the ocean, lately exhibited before the Royal Society, astonished the committee of inspection with their activity and deviations in form from all known types of living creatures. At 60 fathoms the bottom was covered with animated forms capable of resisting a hydrostatic pressure that has been heretofore imagined impossible for any living thing to bear up under a single instant.

Lorenzo Brotano, proprietor of the Illinois Staats Zeitung, lost all his property by the late fire, and now lives in great destitution at Zurich. His career has been a remarkable one. Early in life, when the revolutionary spirit was on ce many he made himself Dictator of Baden, and when overpowered fled to this country, where he established a successful paper and was ruined in his old age.

The threatened repeal of the duty on tea causes a flutter among the tea merchants of New York who hold large quantities in bond and refuse to withdraw it till the tariff question is settled.

The last census of the United States gave the number of Chinese in the country [illegible], probably nearer 70 000 to-day.

The aggregate Petroleum yield of the United States, including Canada, is stated at about 6,000,000 barrels, valued at $30,000,000. The product of the Pennsylvania district, last year, which by far the richest territory yet discovered, was 5,205,000 barrels, as compared with 3,347,000 barrels in 1870, the value of the oil being estimated at $25,000,000. The principal oil districts outside of Pennsylvania are West Virginia, Ohio, and Canada. The extent of the Pennsylvania trade is seen by the following exhibit of the annual supply during each year since 1859:

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE REPUBLICAN CONVENTION OF PORTLAND, MARCH 30, 1872.

The Union Republicans party of Oregon, in Convention, makes this declaration of its principles and policies:

1. To the Constitution of the United States and all its amendments we pledge our unfaltering allegiance, to an authority a willing obedience; to its full and legal consummation and safe interment our constant support.

2. That the success of the present National administration in reducing the public debt, diminishing and equalizing taxation, administering every branch of public affairs with economy and efficiency, framing and inspiring the civil service reforming the laws without fear or favor, protecting the nation's wards with paternal care against the [illegible] assurance of speculation and fraud, and maintaining friendly relations with Foreign Powers, has been such as to command the approbation of the great majority of the American people, and justly entitled it to the confidence and commendation of every true Republican.

3. We regard the payment of our national debt, in full compliance with all legal obligations to all our creditors everywhere, and in accordance with the true letter and spirit of its contracting, as no longer a question in issue, but that we may be clearly understood, we announce all forms and degrees of repudiation of that debt, as abhorred by the Republican party and its sympathizers, as not only national calamities, but positive crimes, and we will never consent to a compromise of lack of honor or justice in its complete satisfaction.

4. We admit of no distinction between citizens, whether of native or foreign birth, and therefore we favor the granting of full amnesty to the people of those States lately in rebellion, and we here pledge the full and free protection of the laws to all persons [illegible] coming to or residing in our land.

5. We favor the encouragement of railroads by the General Government of the United States, and hold that such disposition should be made of the public lands as shall secure the same to actual settlers only, in quantities not exceeding 160 acres.

6. That while we are in favor of a reserve for the support of the General Government, by duties upon imports, sound policy requires such adjustment of those duties on imports as to encourage the development of the industrial interest of the whole country; and we recommend that policy of national exchange which secures to the working men liberal wages; to agriculture remunerative prices; to mechanics and manufacturers an adequate reward for their skill, labor and enterprise, and to the Nation commercial prosperity and independence.

7. We believe that popular education is the sole true basis and safeguard of republican institutions, and shall ever oppose any division of, or interference with the appropriation of funds or lands to this state, for any other than their legitimate purpose, and we endorse the action of the present legislature whereby two hundred thousand dollars, taken from the school fund, were granted to a corporation consisting mainly of Democratic leaders and party favorites, for the construction of a work which another corporation, entirely sound and responsible, offered to construct for three hundred thousand dollars less, and that we are in favor of the passage by the Legislature of an efficient school law, such as shall secure to all citizens of our State a good common school education.

8. We find no terms sufficiently strong to express our disapproval of those acts of the last Legislature whereby the swamp lands belonging to this state have been taken from the needy settlers, and given without the proper or competition in price to the land grabbing and speculative whereby the emoluments and salaries of State officers have been unconstitutionally increased, and the taxes increased thousands of dollars by the creation of new and unnecessary offices and salaries, for the purpose of providing for party favorites; and whereby the citizens of our metropolis have been deprived of and denied the right of controlling their police authority. And we equally condemn the administration of our State officers and laws as extravagant, reckless, illegal and destructive, and we rightfully charge all those results as the acts of the Democratic party.

9. We are in favor of the United States giving to each honorably discharged soldier who served in the armies of the United States to put down the rebellion a warrant for a homestead of 160 acres of public lands.

10. That we demand the repeal of the so called bilingual act, which was devised to support pauper Democratic newspapers at the public expense.

11. That the Republican party of the United States are in favor of the General Government aiding, through a loan of bonds, building a railroad from Portland, Oregon, to Salt Lake City, and from Jackson county to Humboldt, and we hereby pledge our party representatives to the support of the same.

12. That the indiscriminate licensing of persons to sell intoxicating liquors without being placed under proper responsibilities for the abuse thereof, having been found by experience to promote the growth of crime and pauperism, and thereby to seriously increase the rate of taxation, the Republican party recognizes the right and duty of the law-making power to prevent and limit the evils and abuses of such sale, so far as concerns the public good and is consistent with individual liberty, by refusing to license other than law-abiding and responsible persons, who can furnish sufficient securities for good conduct.

13. That the Republican party of Oregon is in favor of obtaining assistance from the General Government for the construction of a wagon road from the city of Portland to the Dalles, recognizing this as a most important and necessary improvement for the State.

14. We affirm that the entire confidence in the power of the Republican party in the only sure preservation of national peace and prosperity, and for reasons therefor we point to its brilliant record in the late civil war, to a complete nationality; to a united statehood of thirty-seven States; to our Territories rapidly warming into State life; to a nation freed from the taint of human slavery; to an elevated and enlarged citizenship; to our national standing at home and abroad, to the work of vigorous reform in all discovered abuses of authority or trust; to an unequaled foreign credit, to a successful and a bit financial system, and to the unparalleled peace and prosperity everywhere in our broad domain, and these are our pledges for the future.

15. We hail the "New Departure" of the Liberal Republicans party taken by the action of their Convention in seven States as an affirmation of the principles for which the Republican party has contended for [illegible] and we commend to every Liberal Republican who has [illegible] assisted in several of the States, who recognize no action [illegible] judgment of their fellow-citizens of assisted in the coming Presidential campaign.

Section 2. Application for permits shall be in writing and shall specify if for building purposes, the name of the street, the number of the lot and blocks, the size and description of the building to be constructed, or if to be repaired, the character of the repairs, the spaces in front of the lot or lots needed, and the proposed time for completing the work. For the removal of a building or buildings, the application shall state the number of the lot and block on which the same is situated, the size of the building, the number of the lot and block to which it is proposed to remove the same, the time it is to be taken and the space in front required for such removal.

Section 3. Permits shall be issued by the Street Commissioner, [illegible] with the endorsement upon the application of the Committee on Streets and Public Property, that the same should be granted for the time and describing the property and the objects for which the permit was granted. No permit shall be issued for a longer period than thirty days. The subject matter of such permit shall be under the supervision of the Street Commissioner.

Section 4. The Committee on Streets and Public Property shall endorse upon applications for permits for building purposes, the width of that portion of the street to be used (which shall in no case exceed one-half the width of the street) and the date [illegible] which the permit shall expire. They may at any time during the progress of the work, require the space occupied to be suitably enclosed and a temporary walk laid around the same, lighted lanterns conspicuously placed on the premises during the night, and such other precautions taken to prevent accidents, as they may deem necessary. Upon application for permits for the removal of buildings, the Committee shall endorse the mode and route for such removal and the date upon which the permit will expire, together with such restrictions as the public interests may require. The Committee may, at their discretion require applicants for permits to give security by deposit, or otherwise, for any damages that may accrue by carelessness or neglect to comply with the provisions of this ordinance.
